HELP FOR RENTERS OR HOMEOWNERS

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development has announced a nationwide eviction and foreclosure moratorium. You can find out more details about the possible relief for your situation here: <https://www.makinghomeaffordable.gov/get-answers/Pages/get-answers-find-out-mortgage.aspx>.

Also, should assistance be needed to fight an eviction, one could reach out to Texas RioGrande Legal Aid Hotline at 888-988-9996.

WAYS TO KEEP THE LIGHTS ON AND PHONES WORKING

Some utility providers are offering to stop cutting people off for nonpayment. A number of large internet companies have agreed not to terminate residential or small business customers who can't pay their bills: AT&T, Comcast, Cox, RCN, Sprint, T-Mobile and Verizon. It is not yet clear whether companies want customers to call to invoke this relief and provide proof or whether they will offer it automatically to everyone. People who need help should call and ask. A full list of companies is available on the Federal Communications Commission site <https://www.fcc.gov/keep-americans-connected#pledges>.
