

Austin Stevenson
City Attorney – City of McAllen

Austin Stevenson has provided in-house legal counsel to the City of McAllen for over a decade and currently serves as City Attorney. His municipal law practice encompasses all legal issues in which the City may have an interest, including state and federal civil litigation, in-house general counsel, land use, zoning, employment, open records, economic development, public utilities, and procurement. Austin holds a BA in Spanish and BBA from the McCombs School of Business at the University of Texas at Austin as well as a Juris Doctorate from Southern Methodist University Dedman School of Law. He previously served as the Texas Young Lawyers Association District 13 Director, Chairman of Leadership McAllen, and on the Hidalgo County Young Lawyers Association Board of Directors.

