EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The McAllen NIBRS Crime Report provides an overview of offenses occurring during the reporting year reported to the McAllen Police Department. In January 2021, the McAllen Police Department completed its transition to the FBI's National Incident-Based Reporting System (NIBRS) for crime data collection.

The McAllen NIBRS Crime Report reflects NIBRS data, such as victims, known offenders, and relationships for offenses reported in 24 categories with 52 offenses. This report also reflects arrest data for additional categories of crime.

During 2025, the McAllen Police Department reported 7,501 incidents. That NIBRS data reflects, 2,874 of the recorded incidents were classified as Crimes Against Persons, 3,437 were classified as Crimes Against Property, and 1,190 were classified as Crimes Against Society. During this period, the McAllen Police Department recorded 5,024 arrests with 50.2% classified as Group A Arrests and 49.8% classified as Group B Arrests. The City of McAllen's population estimate for the year 2025 is 151,174 (U.S. Census Bureau, 2020).

The McAllen Police Department continues to use statistical resources by collecting information, analyzing crime trends, carefully planning strategic operations, and administrative operational functions of the Department, that are used for preventing and suppressing criminal activities.

In addition, effective strategies helped our department identify crime issues, which enabled us to address problems and to direct resources where needed most.

In closing, I express my thanks to all the members of our community and members of the McAllen Police Department for their continued commitment and dedication to our community by continuing to display the principles of community oriented policing, as well as high visibility, strict enforcement of the law, and professionalism.

Sincerely,

Victor Rodriguez
Chief of Police

INTRODUCTION

The McAllen Police Department participates in the FBI Uniform Crime Reporting Program. Uniform Crime Reporting is a part of a nationwide, cooperative statistical effort administered by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The FBI has two crime data reporting systems, one of which is the National Incident-Based Reporting System (NIBRS) and the other is known as Summary Based Reporting (SRS). The latter reporting system has been retired.

The McAllen NIBRS Crime Report offers an analysis of crimes reported to the McAllen Police Department to the US Department of Justice (DOJ) - Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) National Incident-Based Reporting System (NIBRS). The UCR Program transitioned from the Summary Reporting System (SRS) to the National Incident-Based Reporting System (NIBRS) on January 1, 2021. The McAllen Police Department submits its data through the Texas Department of Public Safety Crime Records Uniform Crime Reporting Program – Incident Based Reporting System.

HISTORY OF UCR

In the 1920's, the International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP) recognized the potential value in tracking national crime statistics. The committee on Uniform Crime Records of the IACP developed and initiated this voluntary national data collection effort in 1930. Also, in 1930, the IACP was instrumental in gaining congressional approval which authorized the FBI to serve as the national clearinghouse for statistical information on crime. In June 1966, the National Sheriff's Association (NSA) established a Committee on Uniform Crime Reporting to serve in an advisory capacity and to encourage sheriffs throughout the country to fully participate in the program. Since 1930, through the UCR Program, the FBI has collected and compiled data to use in law enforcement administration, operating, management, and to indicate fluctuations in the level of crime in America.¹

ESTABLISHING NIBRS

From March 1988 through January 1989, the FBI proceeded in developing and assuming management of the UCR Program's NIBRS. By April 1989, the national UCR Program received the first test submission of NIBRS data.²

The SRS reporting format collected monthly crime in ten offense categories and employed a hierarchy rule. Whereas NIBRS tracks 24 offense categories made up of 52 reportable Group A offenses and 10 Group B offenses. NIBRS collects information on when the incidents occurred, the victim types, the relationships of victims to offenders, the location data, property descriptions, and may result in multiple Group A offenses to be reported for a single incident. NIBRS provides better context between specific crimes such as drug/narcotics, identity theft, and sex offenses. NIBRS includes the categories of Crimes Against Persons, Crimes Against Property, and Crimes Against Society.

Under the UCR format, offense data is reported the year it is reported regardless of the year-of-occurrence and under the NIBRS format, offense data for the year-of-occurrence is amended regardless of the year reported.

Offense Volume Analysis

- The Offense Volume in this reporting year decreased -10.4% when compared to the previous year.

Offense Rate Analysis

Offense Rates are compiled to compensate for the changes in population.

- The Offense Rate reflects the number of offenses reported per 100,000 residents. [See Table 2]
- The Offense Rate during the reporting year was 4,961.8 crimes per 100,000 residents.
- The Offense Rate is based on the estimates of the 2020 U.S. Census population for the city of McAllen and the annual growth rate of 1.2%.

■ Offense Type: Rape – Incidents by Month

Rape is defined by NIBRS as “penetration, no matter how slight, of the vagina or anus with any body part or object, or oral penetration by a sex organ of another person, or by a sex-related object. This definition also includes instance in which the victim is incapable of giving consent because of temporary or permanent mental or physical incapacity (include due to the influence of drugs or alcohol) or because of age. Physical resistance is not required on the part of the victim to demonstrate lack of consent.”⁶

⁶ United States Department of Justice, Federal Bureau of Investigation – CJIS Division. (June 2023). 2023.0 National Incident-Based Reporting System User Manual.

VICTIMOLOGY

Rapes differ from other violent crimes because in many cases the victims may be hesitant to report the offense to the police. The rigors of court procedures, embarrassment, and fear of any accompanying stigma exert a deterrent effect upon the victim's willingness to contact the police. As attitudes towards the reporting of rape change, trends in the number of reported offenses can be expected to change accordingly.

- For data compiled of committed reporting year Rape offenses, there were 44 victims.
- During the reporting year, the age group reporting the highest incidence was the age group of 11-16 year olds. [See Figure 11]

- Based on the data reported in the reporting year, 100.0% of the victims were Hispanic and 0.0% were Non-Hispanic.
- Of the data reported in the reporting year for Rape, 34 victims were Females and 10 were Males.

VICTIM/OFFENDER RELATIONSHIP

- In NIBRS, the data collected for victim/offender relationship is that of the relationship of the victims to the offenders, not the relationship of the offenders to the victims.
- Based on the data compiled during the reporting year 34.1% of victims were raped by a Family member and 65.9% were raped by a Non-Family member. [See Figure 12].
- In the Non-Family category, most victims were 'Acquaintances' or 'Strangers' to the offender.
- In the Family category, most victims of rape were a 'Boyfriend/Girlfriend' of the offender.

PERSONS ARRESTED

- During the reporting year, there were a total of 20 persons arrested for Rape.
- Of the 20 persons arrested, 19 persons were Adults and 1 was a Juvenile. [See Figure 13].
- Of the 20 persons arrested, 19 persons were Males and 1 person was Female.
